BOARD VOTES FUNDS TO MOVE BURLINGAME LIBRARY FOR LEGION

Supervisors Meet With Unemployment Committee To Aid
Conditions in County—Feel That Western Pacific
Decision Will End Depression

The Board of Supervisors Wednesday in special session voted $3500 for an American Legion home in Burlingame. The money will be used in moving the old Burlingame city library building from its present location to a site adjoining the city park. Both the building and the lot have been donated to the Legion Post by the city, and the funds contributed by the supervisors in addition to taking care of the removal of the building will help remodel it and make it into a club house for the veterans. A resolution appropriating the funds was unanimously adopted by the board, on motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Thompson.

The action of the board was taken in connection with the holding of the meeting of the Mayors and Supervisors unemployment committee Wednesday at the court house Wednesday morning.

Other Money Given
In addition to the $3500 for the Legion home, Burlingame will receive $2000 for road improvements. Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown of the second township announced that she was voluntarily donating $2000 from her road fund to repair Newhall road in Burlingame.

Mayor Matt A. Harris of Atherton, who presided as chairman of the mayors and supervisors county unemployment committee Wednesday, submitted a report of conditions in the various cities and communities of the county with regard to the number of men and women registered for work and the number given employment. Chairman Harris said the situation was still rather critical in some sections and that unless relief was given there was danger of a serious social upheaval.

Fred Drake of San Carlos said he felt that the favorable decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the granting of the Western Pacific Company's application for its Redwood City branch road would solve the unemployment situation in San Mateo county.

The five supervisors reported that they were employing every man possible on road work at the present time in order to stimulate work. Supervisor Poole of the third township said that he would go the limit with his funds in giving men employment, reporting that he had 43 men working during the month of December. During the months of October and November, Supervisor Poole said he spent $7600 on road work.

"Legally, according to the district attorney, the supervisors cannot take money out of the road funds and put in some specific fund, as has been suggested by members of the committee in order to aid in the relief work," said Supervisor Poole.

Supervisors Thompson and Francis of the coastside said their district were both being well taken care of and that all men out of employment were being given jobs.

Supervisor Brown said she was going the limit in using her road funds for giving immediate employment and that the members of the board stood ready and willing to do everything possible to help relieve the situation.

Supervisor Hickey assured the committee that the Social Service Commission will take care of all actual suffering and explained the system of handling the so-called "floating" population.

Miss Meta Kuebler of Menlo Park told of conditions in that town, explained that there are quite a few persons out of employment but who have not registered.

The meeting adjourned at the call of the chair after the committee had pledged itself to redouble its efforts in securing work for the unemployed.

Reverend G. H. Stevens will have charge of the meeting.

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Islands

Conditions In Regard To Philippine Freedom
Explained

The perplexing situation which United States faces in the Philippines was explained in an interesting and instructive manner by Mayor Taylor of San Mateo. Mayor Taylor, who spent a number of years in the Philippines, explained the history of the little islands which have been overrun in turn by Malay, Morro, Spaniard and finally by American.

The condition of the islands is peculiar, he stated, since the time of the first American occupation the Philippines have been taught the love of liberty. But, Mayor Taylor, stated, the islands are not in a condition for free government. Several factors were pointed out which make this so. One of these is the large proportion of Morros in the southern part of the islands. A great animosity exists between the Morros, who are Mohammedans, and the Filipinos, who are Christian.

The Morros fear government by the Filipinos, and have been promised protection by the United States government.

The situation which the United States faces in the Philippines is parallel to that faced by Great Britain in India where race animosities between the Mohammedans and the Hindus make the granting of freedom to either party would result in the subjection and tyrannization of the other party.

The chairman of the meeting was Henry Beeber. The meeting was presided over by Roscoe Stevens, who was president of the club last year, but who was called to the southern part of the state by his business interest. This is the first time that Stevens has been able to visit the club since leaving here, and the president's place was tendered him by President Sam Winkler.

A partial report on the recent Kiwanis play, "The Whole Town's Talking," was given by B. E. Meyers, the business manager for the production.

Gas War Hinted In Price Drops

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14 (UP)—Independent gasoline Service Stations in the San Francisco bay region offered gasoline today for 17 cents a gallon, four cents under the rate that has become standard.

Representatives of large oil companies refuse to comment on reports that this action might precede recurrence of the gasoline price war that has been waged at intervals on the Pacific Coast for more than a year.

Major oil companies generally refuse to comment on the situation but one official of a leading distributing company said the action of the independents in undercutting the market and a certain lack of confidence in the oil curtailment might force a price-cutting war.

A dozen or more independents in San Mateo county have been selling gas for eighteen cents a gallon for months without affecting prices of regular service stations. The 18 cent price has been on a new Southern California gas only recently appearing in the bay counties. Other service stations have been selling the standard brands of gasoline at one and two cents under the regular price.

Fire in Car is Caused by Lime

When a carload of unslacked lime in the yard of the Pacific Steel Corporation at South San Francisco became overheated due to the chemical action of the lime, damage to the extent of $125 was done to the car. The South San Francisco fire department was called to extinguish the flames.

New Directors of Chamber of Commerce Select Realtor
For Coming Year

Henry Witte, well-known realtor, was elected president of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce for 1931 at the meeting of the new board of directors held on Wednesday. He will succeed Carl B. Stoner, who served during the past year and whose administration has been characterized as one of the most successful in the history of the organization. Mr. Stoner was re-elected to the board.

The new president has been active for many years in civic affairs and is at the present time the chairman of the Redwood City Planning Commission. He and Carl Wagner were the two holdover members of the board of directors this year.

William H. Dossie, treasurer of the San Mateo County Title Company, was named vice-president of the chamber. He also has been active in local civic affairs was the president of the Redwood City Exchange Club.

Edward T. Harrison, manager of the First National Bank, was elected treasurer of the chamber and Howard Wood was re-elected secretary-manager.

Harbor Main Objective
In taking his seat as president, Mr. Witte pledged his untiring efforts to make this the greatest of all chambers of commerce years. Mr. Stoner, the retiring president, assured the other members of the board that he would continue his activities in the chamber and would work with the same zeal as he had in the past for the betterment and upbuilding of Redwood City.

Various civic problems and matters were informally discussed at the meeting, but it was the unanimous opinion of the members that the board should concentrate its efforts this year on the development of the local harbor, it being felt that Redwood City's "Golden Opportunity" is at hand and that nothing should be left undone to bring about the prosperity that is certain to follow the coming of the Western Pacific railroad and the improvement of the water front.

The directors pledged their cooperation to the Redwood City Carpenters' Union No. 1408, in their efforts to boost local labor in all building and other enterprises. The favorable action was taken following the reading of a communication by Secretary Wood from the following committee of the Carpenters' Union: A. E. Lueger, Chris Cussen, J. A. Haneberg and A. Frantow.

County Federation of Clubs

Two boys who came from Santa Barbara to San Francisco in a stolen car, were caught Tuesday by Burlingame police. The two boys, Tom Farquhar, 19, and Anthony Cota, 16, were taken up by the Burlingame officers when they were hitch-hiking their way south again.

The two youths admitted that they stole a new car in Santa Barbara, and began a trip to San Francisco. Enroute when they ran out of fuel they had sold a mirror, the clock and a spare tire off the car, which they later abandoned in San Francisco.

They have been returned to Santa Barbara by police from that county.

Yomecan Club

The Yomecans had a very peppy meeting on Wednesday evening at the Sequoia Hotel. Carroll Hall was the speaker. He told in a very interesting manner about the many places of interest in England, Scotland and Ireland that he visited. President Norbert Lambert was chairman. An intensive attendance and new membership campaign was started which will run until March 1st. Ed Holmquist and Stanley Netherton are acting as captains of the two sides into which the membership has been divided. A letter from Ed Greeley, the immediate past president, who has moved to Peoria, Ill., was read.

Exchange Club Hears of Gangs And Racketeers

Captain Duncan Matheson In Address To Clubmen On Social Evils

Members of the Redwood City Exchange club were given an interesting talk at the regular meeting of the club Tuesday evening by Capt. Duncan Matheson, treasurer of San Francisco, and for many years chief of the San Francisco detective bureau. Captain Matheson talked to the Exchange club on racketeers and gangsters.

Capt. Matheson told members of the club that in the past San Francisco has been quite free of the gangster and the racketeer, but that this class is coming west more and more and that greater efforts will have to be made at combating this type of social parasite. Interesting experiences with gangsters in San Francisco and other cities were given by Capt. Matheson. The chairman of the meeting was Harvey Conner.

The club had as its guests Chief of Police C. L. Collins of Redwood City and Sheriff J. J. McGrath of San Mateo county. Coach Ramon Dimick of the Sequoia Union high school and Leo LeRoy and Bob Alber, two of the members of the Sequoia basketball teams were also guests of the club.

Judge Orders Investigation Of Litigation

Claims Against Mark Hopkins
Estate To Be Studied
By Association

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14 (UP)—Communications received from persons throughout the country who claim to be "heirs" of the late Mark Hopkins, pioneer California multimillionaire mining and railroad man, today caused Superior Judge Frank Dunne to demand a State Bar association investigation of litigation over the estate.

Judge Dunne declared that ignorant persons are being misled by "vicious attorneys" who lead them to believe they are heirs to the allegedly undistributed portions of the estate.

Communications have been received from attorneys in Texas and Oklahoma, the jurist declared.

The judge stated that in his opinion the millions assertedly at stake in current litigation are largely "mythical," and stated that he intended to ask the State Bar to investigate attorneys who are bringing such claims to court.

Coastside Union Asks View Spots On New Highway

Wide Spaces Asked So That Motorists May Stop To Enjoy Views

A committee of coastside residents has petitioned the San Francisco-Santa Cruz highway board to provide wide parking spaces at scenic points along the line of the proposed new boulevard along the coast in order that motorists may stop and enjoy the view without being in the way of other motorists on the highway. The committee appointed by the Coastside Civic Union consisted of C. B. Smith, Clarence Stafford and Col. Felix Lacroce.

It is requested that the parking areas be arranged at Miramar, Princeton, and at the many other scenic points along the roadway from Santa Cruz north to San Francisco.

S. S. F. MOULDER JAILED

P. A. Bohannon, South San Francisco moulder, this week began a 60 day term in the county jail for being drunk and disturbing the peace. He began serving the two months in lieu of a fine of $125 assessed against him by Justice of the Peace Edward Farrell of South San Francisco. This marks Bohannon's third engagement with the law on similar offenses. In November he was arrested and was given a 90 day suspended sentence. Shortly after he was again arrested and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. This term was shortened by parole. This time it is likely that Bohannon will serve the full term.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED AFTER AUTO CRASH

Injuries received in an automobile accident in San Carlos on January 5, have been made the basis for an action for damages filed in the Superior court here by Lee Schantz, mechanic's helper of Hayward, against Merrill Hermendinger of Palo Alto.

In his action Schantz seeks $35,000 for personal injuries sustained, he charges, when he ran down while crossing El Camino Real at San Carlos by the defendant's machine.

COASTSIDE TO OPPOSE JAIL NEAR BEACHES

Residents To Fight Effort
To Pace New S. F. Jail
On Coast

The proposal of San Francisco to locate its new jail at one of the popular seaside districts of this county has met with a determined opposition among residents of the coastside of the county. No definite site has been selected, according to San Francisco authorities, but it is intimated that two sites are being considered, both of which would meet with opposition from the people of the coastside. The sites are at Princeton and at Salada Beach. It is declared by coastside residents that sites in the much frequented coastside section were considered after Supervisor Hickey had voted two proposed sites in his district which included the northern part of the county.

The sentiment against the locating of the jail in the coastside of the county was strongly expressed at a meeting of the Coastside Civic Union Monday night.

More than a dozen speakers expressed indignation over the reported proposal of San Francisco to locate her "undesirable institutions" in San Mateo county. They pointed out that the tuberculosis sanitarium of San Francisco has been established near Redwood City, that Mills Field of more than 1000 acres is being acquired by San Francisco, and that with the taking over of former Spring Valley Water company properties, the big city to the north is in control of altogether too much area in the county.

An active part in the discussion was taken by Supervisor Manuel Francis, representative of the coastside on the county board. Francis assured the people of the coastside that the jail could not be located anywhere in this county without the approval of the board of supervisors of the county. The matter has not come before the supervisors, he said, and when it did the interests of the people of the coastside would be guarded.

Meanwhile Sheriff W. J. Fitzgerald of San Francisco declared that no choice had yet been made but that he was about to make his selection. He declared that he would appear before the San Mateo board of supervisors within a few days to ask their consent for location of the jail in this county.

More than half a dozen sites have been submitted by realty men and others all in the region between the Skyline boulevard and the coast, said Sheriff Fitzgerald.

One of the sites surveyed is the 240 acres at Pillar Point, reported by members of the coast civic organization Monday night, it was intimated. Fitzgerald said a rather large tract will be required and that about $100,000 of the $850,000 voted for the institution will be spent for land.

Half Moon Bay merchants declared today they have been informed that San Francisco plans to acquire 100 acres of land and that there would be nothing to prevent location of a pesthouse on the property at some future date.

A leader in the movement to prevent the location of the San Francisco jail on the beach of San Mateo county is George Dunn, publisher of the Halfmoon Bay Review, who declared that the petitions being circulated by the Coastside Civic Union will be given the signatures of 90 per cent of the property owners and residents of the coastside section from the Santa Cruz line north.

Funeral services were held yesterday at the parlors of Layne & Tiney for Dolores Dower, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dower, 525 Brewster street. The little girl died at the Mills Memorial hospital Monday night. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery in Menlo Park.

RED CROSS CHAPTER ASKS AID TO CLOTHE AND FEED DESTITUTE

Chapter Seeks $1100 For Alleviation of Suffering Among Destitute Farmers in Drought Stricken Areas In Middlewest and In South

Redwood City, through its Red Cross chapter, has been asked to raise $1100 to help feed and clothe the destitute farmers and their families in the drought stricken areas of the middle west and south, as a part of the $10,000,000 drought relief program of the American Red Cross.

A meeting of the executive committee of the local chapter was called Tuesday afternoon at the chamber of commerce office by Mrs. Z. T. Thorning, chairman, to make plans for fulfilling Redwood City's quota. The chapter itself voted $100 toward the fund and the city council contributed $100, leaving $900 to be collected through subscriptions. Donations to this very worthy cause will be received at the three banks in the city—Bank of America, First National Bank and the San Mateo County Savings Bank; the newspaper offices, the Tribune, Standard and Times-Gazette, and in Woodside, Neuman's Brothers' store.

California's quota of the fund was set at $739,000, with the Pacific Coast area of the Red Cross, comprising seven states, and Alaska, asked to raise $1,098,900.

Situation Critical
The situation in famine-swept Kansas and adjoining states is far more serious than the Mississippi flood three years ago, according to a telegram received Tuesday by Mrs. Thorning from R. E. Arne, acting manager of the Pacific Division of the Red Cross, broadcasting the appeal for funds to the 200 chapters of the Red Cross in the district.

"Greatly increased demands during last ten days have made imperative immediate campaigns for Red Cross relief fund to meet emergency situation through parts of 21 states in drought stricken area. Minimum ten million dollars needed to prevent untold suffering and actual starvation by thousands of families. Pollution water supply caused by dying cattle added to winter hardships in some sections. President Hoover in proclamation urges immediate and generous response. Confident your people will not fail to meet their share in this humanitarian need, but because of general conditions desires impress you necessity most vigorous possible campaign. Success our efforts will be regarded as test of Red Cross by president and entire nation and we must not fail. Your chapter quota eleven hundred dollars. Report action taken."

Two important resolutions were passed; one in regard to the use of the flag, that it be not used for any advertising purposes, but only at regular legal hours, with proper respect. Mrs. Hunter of Loma Park introduced the resolution.

Mrs. Oscar Keene of Burlingame, a member of the State Safety Board, urged that a recommendation be sent to San Francisco Safety Board from the San Mateo County Federation, endorsing the maintaining of white marking lines on the highway, the white-washing of trees along the highway and more colored glass lighting at crossings and sharp turns on the highway.

Mrs. F. M. Perkins, Mrs. C. I. Rider and Mrs. Lila Kirkpatrick were appointed on the motion picture committee to meet with the managers of the local motion picture houses, especially in regard to pictures shown on Saturdays, when so many school children attend the shows.

In the afternoon, Miss Jessie Williamson, 2nd vice-president of the San Francisco district, Federation of Women's Clubs, who is still chairman of land marks and history of early California, spoke on "Federation." There are now in the United States 3,000,000 federated club women, and over $21,000,000 was spent on Christmas work in December, by the State Federated clubs, covering principally the orphanages and hospitals.

On February 23, the State Executive Board will hold a meeting at the Western Woman's Club.

O. E. S. To Hold "Scotch" Night

Sequoia Chapter, No. 203, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a "Scotch" Night in the Masonic Hall Monday evening, January 19, with Mrs. Philip Forsyth, Worthy Matron, in charge of the program, which will consist of music and songs.

Mr. John MacDonald of San Jose, Associate Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter of California, will be a distinguished visitor at the affair, which is for Masons and Eastern Star members only. Many out-of-town guests are expected and a full attendance of local members is urged.

HALFMOON BAY STORE ROBBED

One or two persons broke into the store of the Halfmoon Bay Mercantile Company this week and stole $500 worth of goods. The materials taken consisted mostly of silk lingerie, men's and women's coats, guns and other small articles. The stolen goods are supposed to have been removed in an automobile. The robbery was investigated by Constable Fred Simmons.

Bar On Aliens Urged To Limit Population

Exclusion of every unneeded immigrant to postpone as long as possible the living conditions and population problems of the older countries was advocated in a statement made recently by Representative Albert Johnson of Hoquiam, Wash., chairman of the House Committee on Immigration. The statement read:

"Unless some gigantic new industry is developed, the newer generations of the United States will have to emigrate to the other open spaces of the world, among which are Canada, Australia, Africa, Mexico and the South American countries. We have lots of unoccupied land in the United States, but it is apparent that farming under our standards of living is not profitable.

"We might reflect that more than 2,000,000 boys and girls became of age in the United States last year. Many of these are at work, others have joined the ranks of the unemployed, there to jostle elbows with the elderly, the skilled, and the newly-arrived aliens in the scramble for jobs. Each year the use of labor-saving machinery is greater. Each year the number of citizens coming of age is larger.

"In spite of this, we are still an importer of immigrants, although nearly everyone advocates further restriction of immigration, except immigration of those of their kind, or those whom they need in their business. How long can this go on?"

"Sixty years ago, the homesteads absorbed the excess of our population. Thirty years ago, factory development and growth of cities came to the relief of the increased population. Women began to be employed in industry. Twenty-five years ago, the automobile industry from the raw material to the finished product, and the selling, fueling and driving of the auto, provided work for our young men by the million. Next came the moving picture industry and then the radio.

"But as these increased the use of hands, the development of labor-saving machinery of every kind offset the increase in part, which helped to bring about the present unemployment situation. One cannot but conclude that the United States can postpone but not ultimately escape population and living conditions of the older countries. Postpone we can and should, even to the restriction of every unneeded immigrant."

Neglect of Youth Blamed For Crime

The most compelling factor of the underlying cause for the ever increasing number of youthful criminals entering reformatories, jails and penitentiaries today lies at the door of society in the neglect to provide for the leisure time activities for boys, especially under-privileged boys, declared William Edwin Hall, member of the New York State Crime Commission, in an address over the radio recently. He continued in part:

"Not long ago I viewed the lineup at police headquarters in New York. I was shocked to see that a very large number of those who had been arrested were boys under twenty-one years of age. The other day I stood within the gray walls of Sing Sing prison and saw one hundred of the most recent arrivals and was struck by the fact that these newly arrived convicts were practically all mere boys.

"Month after month there is a continuous stream of youth into the jails and penitentiaries of our country. The average age of the criminal is getting younger and younger. Official records prove that criminals are not made overnight, but evolve from juvenile delinquents.

"The industrialization of our civilization has resulted in the piling up of masses of people in congested areas in large cities. The by-product of this is the cheap tenement and the four-room house. Although our economic system has changed, the impulses, inclinations, and inherent desires of boys have remained the same."

The commissioner urged the adoption of some means whereby boys could have an outlet for surplus energy that would not lead to the life of criminals. He thought that this could best be done through boys' clubs.

A Fundamental Fact

Necessity for spending must be heeded today or there will be need in the land tomorrow. Get scared! Scared of what is sure to come if America doesn't keep her dollars in circulation. Our prosperity cannot be built on miserliness. It depends on buying the things that go with prosperity.

President to be Commended

The senators who voted for the resolution a few days ago asking President Hoover to withdraw the appointments of the four Federal Power Commissioners already confirmed by that body certainly acted without judgment or reason. Mr. Hoover very promptly and rightly replied that he would do no such thing. He in firm language declared that the senate was encroaching on his rights as president, and could not submit to such a demand as that asked by the senate. To do so would belittle the dignity of his office and make him subservient to the senate.

We commend Mr. Hoover for his courage and fearlessness in this matter, which had the attention of the whole country. Had President Hoover taken the dictation of that august body and cringed before its behest, he would have fallen greatly in the estimation of the American people. Mr. Hoover is a strong man, a statesman and an executive who knows his rights and will maintain them at any cost.

The four power commissioners were before the senate for confirmation some time ago and after considerable argument were duly confirmed. On assuming control the commissioners removed some of the personnel of the office, this they had a perfect right to do, but the action aroused the anger of certain senators not friendly to the president who by a resolution adopted by the senate, sought to have the president withdraw these names and send new ones for confirmation. There is no precedent for this unreasonable demand. It was unjust, unfair to the president, and illegal and unparliamentary. It was done solely to embarrass Mr. Hoover and place him in an awkward position. The president, however, was not to be embarrassed or disturbed by his enemies. He acted quickly and properly and demonstrated to the country that he was president of the United States and could not be threatened or compelled to commit an illegal act.

By his stand in this matter Mr. Hoover has won the hearts of the people of the country. Bravery and courage are qualities that every citizen likes in an executive and Mr. Hoover possesses them to a marked degree.

We commend Senator Samuel M. Shortridge for his vote on the resolution, he having voted with the minority, to uphold the chief executive. Mr. Shortridge has consistently voted to sustain his fellow Californian in the White House at every roll call where the president was concerned.

Death of Marshal Joffre

Joffre, victorious in life, is the victor in death. A great soldier who dedicated his life and his services to France is sleeping beneath the green sod where soldiers tramped in their onward march from homes to cantonment camps and army headquarters, in the great World War.

Like all men who have to bear the brunt of battle, there were times when undeserved criticism was heaped upon him. During his last remaining years Joffre was embittered because of a controversy of military experts on the question of who won the battle of the Marne.

France honors Marshal Joffre for a different reason than it commemorates the name of Napoleon. Both were great military leaders, but the emperor was only a military genius, not a savior of his country. France takes pride in the name of Napoleon; she loves "Papa" Joffre.

The American people quickly took this heroic Frenchman to their hearts, accepting him as one of their own heroes—the man who saved the war for them to win.

Better Times Ahead

Thousands of men are being given jobs throughout the nation. All are hoping and believing that already there is a decided upward trend in business. The present condition cannot well last another year without bringing real disaster. It would seem that the depression has about run its course. All the signs point to the end. Every panic up to this one came to an end, and there is no reason why the present one should not run its course. The country has been pretty well shaken down, and can do very little more settling without something giving away. Most of the fellows who crawled out too far on the limb have fallen off, and even some who have been more conservative and stayed close to the trunk are getting wobbly. Naturally, there is but one conclusion, and that is, that the upward turn cannot be very far away.

George Akerson Resigns

Once again the country is afforded an impressive example of the fact that the government cannot compete with Big Business in the open market for brains and business ability. George Akerson, President Hoover's secretary, has resigned his position at the White House to join the executive staff of the Paramount-Publix Corporation. He will leave the White House very soon to assume his new position, which will pay him nearly three times the salary he is receiving at present.

George Akerson has been Herbert Hoover's "right hand man" for many years. It is a foregone conclusion that the President is going to miss him greatly for an efficient and experienced secretary is one of the most valuable aids an executive can have.

Love's Sacrifice

By Mildred Barbour

... she tried to remember that she was deeply in Lois's debt, that her home, her security, was the gift of her friend.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

Sally Todd and Lois Montgomery leave home to seek their fortunes in New York.

Sally's brother, Bert, who is in love with Lois, follows them.

Lois meets a young man whom she knew when she was a wealthy woman's secretary.

He and a chap named FRISBY show her and Sally little attention, but Lois' thoughts are chiefly on the problems of existence.

Lois finally gets a job with a firm of interior decorators. Sally struggles for a foothold in the movies. They have a hard time making both ends meet.

Sally enters hospital training, finally convinced that the films have no future for her.

Lois is absorbed in her own work. During her employer's illness, she is sent to the palatial residence of James Walton to make a preliminary report.

Sally's liking for gay company causes a coolness between herself and Lois.

It also involves Lois in difficulties with Bert.

Lois is strongly attracted to Walton, who is much older than herself, and very rich and distinguished.

—She finds him very cold and domineering.

—He demands she give up her friendship with Sally.

Sally, meanwhile, is in hot water at the hospital, because she is too fond of a good time.

After an especially gay party she is assigned in an emergency to night duty.

—She falls asleep while waiting for the special nurse to come, and the patient, in her delirium, rushes from the room and jumps from a window.

By a miracle she escapes with minor injuries.

Chapter 40.

A Summons

Several days later Sally received a note from James Walton, asking her to call at his office. At first she told herself that she would ignore the summons, for she had had an opportunity to think over the significance of the conversation they had had about Lois, and she was filled with shame at her treachery toward her friend.

The events of the morning strengthened her resolution. There was a note from Lois, saying that she was sending over a basket of fruit, and the early mail brought a package of new books and magazines. These evidences of thoughtfulness caused a lump to form in Sally's throat. She was easily moved nowadays, and just as easily angered. She had always been an unstable person emotionally, but the way in which her feelings fluctuated frightened her sometimes.

She tried to remember just exactly what it was that she had told Walton that day when he had called upon her and had adroitly kept the conversation centered on Lois, with now and then a mention of Dr. Randolph's name. He had been fishing for information—the old fox. But she hadn't given him much. Or had she? It was hard to remember. Her mind didn't seem very clear. Her head was alternately light and heavy these days.

Had James Walton said something to the effect that Lois might be seeing too much of Dr. Randolph? That was it. Sally threw aside the book she had been glancing through while she tried to collect her thoughts, and walked over to the window. Dr. Randolph. . . . Dr. Randolph. . . . She repeated the name over and over as her memory pictured his dark, handsome eyes, his smiling, distinguished face. But she seemed to see him smiling always at Lois, never at herself. To him she was just an unfortunate person who didn't know how to run her own life, who always had to be helped. But he regarded Lois as well, anyone could see how he looked upon her.

or injuries, but Sally's fate is sealed. She is dismissed in disgrace just before graduation.

Dr. Dale Randolph, out of sympathy, offers her a position in his office. He does not guess that Sally, while at the hospital, occasionally used drugs to bolster up her energies after gay parties.

Lois provides Sally with a little home in the country. Sally falls in love with Dr. Randolph, who has no idea of her feeling for him.

Randolph meets Lois and likes her at once. This is too much for Sally. She again resorts to the use of drugs, and, while in a befuddled condition, tells Randolph she loves him.

Randolph lays the situation before Lois and asks her help.

An anonymous letter linking Lois's name with Dr. Randolph's reaches James Walton. He tells her that he does not believe the charge, but warns her to avoid any conduct that might cause idle talk.

Chapter 40. She is convinced that the letter came from Sally. The latter takes an overdose of drugs, in what Lois believes to be a fit remorse, and Lois and Randolph again go to her aid.

He amazes Lois by professing a liking for the doctor and urging that she ask him to their home. Bert visits Sally, whose conduct has terminated her employment in the doctor's office, and she tells him of Lois's marriage and adds that Lois is very unhappy.

Bert's attentions to Lois are so persistent that Walton takes her to task.

She does not know that her husband resents her failure to aid him in realizing his social ambitions and is looking about for an excuse to get rid of her.

Sally's mouth hardened into a tight little line. Her eyes narrowed. That good resolution vanished so completely that she forgot that she had ever entertained it. She walked swiftly to the telephone and called James Walton's office. . . . "Yes. . . . very well, I will see you this afternoon."

From the moment she entered James Walton's private office, Sally felt that she no longer had a will of her own. His determination, his guile, dominated her. For a moment she tried to remember that she was deeply in Lois' debt, that her home, her security, was the gift of her friend. But, before Walton's resolute purpose, this thought vanished. She looked meekly at him while he stared out of the window. "You were very good to come to see me," he said, smiling, for he realized that she was very ill at ease. "Please sit down."

With deft cunning, he told her that he was coming to her for help, that as one of Lois' oldest friends he wished to consult her about a problem that had become vital to his domestic affairs. As on that other occasion when he had talked to her about Lois, he completely overcame any hostility that she might have felt toward him. He was tact and charm itself, but behind it all was resolution. This thing meant a great deal to him. He talked most convincingly.

Here was his predicament. Lois was young, trusting, inexperienced. He had not realized, when he married her, just how much of a child she was. He had thought that the responsibilities of a home and marriage would make her more mature. Apparently he had been wrong. Certain people—a number of them—were taking advantage of her good nature, her willingness to take everything at its face value. They were using her for their own purposes, to enhance their own social standing, to obtain favors that had a material value. It was only fair that Miss Todd should know how these people were. Still, the only one she knew was this young doctor for whom she had worked. He was anxious to enlarge his practice among wealthy people. He saw an opportunity to do so through Lois. But some people had been unkind enough to talk, and it was all very embarrassing. Now if Miss Todd was willing to be of assistance . . .

Sally gulped and nodded, never taking her fascinated gaze from James Walton's face. "What do you want me to do?" she asked.

"Just this," Walton said. "I have been told that my wife and Dr. Randolph sometimes meet at your house. Only occasionally," Sally began, and then she recalled the emergencies that had caused Lois and the doctor to meet at her assistance, and flushed painfully.

Walton told himself that she could doubtless reveal a good many things if she chose to do so, and he went on persuasively:

"Not often, I know. But often enough to give gossip something to talk about. Now what I want you to do is this—the next time it happens, I want you to let me know at once. I'll have a serious talk with Lois, and I promise that I won't tell her where I got my information. And I won't be hard on her either. But one must have something definite—something in the present—on which to base one's warning. So—will you promise to help me?"

"Yes," Sally said, twisting her handkerchief nervously. "But maybe they won't come again for some time. I don't know."

"I've thought of that, too," said Walton reflectively. "And I do want to have this thing settled and over with. I wonder whether you could arrange a meeting between them, just to provide me with ammunition for my lecture, so to speak?"

And Sally, hating herself for her part in the scheme, yet driven on by her anger against Lois and Dale Randolph and her awe of James Walton, agreed.

Pony Stampedes Ranch Horses

RITZVILLE, Wash., Jan. 16 (UP)—John Kramer's band of 47 horses and mules hadgazed at many strange things, and found them unalarming.

They could look placidly at motor cars or coyotes. Mountain bears did not frighten them. But when a wandering Shetland pony tried to attach itself to the stock, there resulted what observers feelingly termed "the dampest stampede in the history of Adams county."

It was 7:30 A. M. when the Shetland first appeared. The horses and mules headed away from there on a dead run . . . the pony at their heels.

Hearing the thundering hoofs ranch employes headed off all but 18 head of the frightened animals. These disappeared down the road in a cloud of dust, the Shetland still in pursuit.

For two hours the frightened stock ran, covering 30 miles. When finally found, the horses and mules were on a sheep range on the Palouse river.

The Shetland pony had disappeared.

Don Kauffman, also of the high school was another speaker, his topic being the boy's problems today. County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman spoke on the organized church man in government, and the good which such a body can do by co-operating with public officials and commending them when commendation is due. Fred Schmitz was the last speaker and his subject was the Christian Life.

Big Earnings Indicate Turn In Depression

Improved Conditions Shown In Reports of Big Industries

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—(UP)—News of a nature to brighten the business outlook was plentiful today and served to crystallize recent opinion that economic conditions were turning the corner. The cheering items came principally from the automobile and steel industries, while there were some highly favorable earnings reports and other indications that conditions were scraping bottom.

The General Motors Corporation reported 68,252 cars were sold to dealers in the United States in December, 1930, compared with 36,482 cars in the same month of 1929.

Although the corporation announced that the increase was largely due to the introduction of new Chevrolet models in November instead of in January, as in previous years, the fact that it was the first pick-up since the spring and that it was far in excess of December, 1929, had a stimulating effect in the financial community.

The automotive industry contributed further to the day's quota of favorable news by a report of the Auburn Automotive Company showing sales of Auburn models during the automobile show week more than doubled those of the same period last year.

Two of the country's leading corporations in their respective fields came in with the most favorable earnings reports seen in some time, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company announced new high records in net earnings and in dividend payments had been established in 1930, while Procter & Gamble Company, soap manufacturers, reported net earnings for the first six months of 1930 showed a 13 per cent increase over the first half of the year.

Beginning Monday, January 19, the troop will meet each Monday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 for six Mondays in the girls' social club room of the high school. Friends interested in knowing more about the organization, Girl Scout mothers and leaders are invited.

Training Class Offered Leaders Of Girl Scouts

Girl Scout leaders, mothers and friends are going to play the Girl Scout game at the advance training course to be conducted under the Sequoia District Girl Scout Council Monday evenings in the high school. How to spatter paint on oak craft, tell an interesting story, cook kabobs over a camp fire and whistle a fuzzy stick are only a few of the things to be learned in the troop.

Specialists will help on three or four phases of the Girl Scout program. Miss Wilhelmina Harper, Hawaiian, will help with story telling; Mrs. Elizabeth Price, Nature; Lave Guide from Berkeley, will have an evening for nature methods and a number of the regional staff from San Francisco will teach second class games and explain the national organization.

Death Held Accidental

The death of Mario Ubaldi, who died from injuries received when a car in which he was riding crashed into an electric car at South San Francisco, was held accidental by a coroner's jury Tuesday. The inquest was held in South San Francisco. Ubaldi was riding in the car with Paolo Volante when the accident occurred.

OFFER SAFETY RESOLUTION

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—The Safety Bureau of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce offered the citizens of Buffalo a novel resolution: "I will so act at home, at work, and on the street that though no fault of mine will an accident happen to myself, or others. Furthermore, I will at all times endeavor by my example to instill the thought of safety into the minds of my fellow citizens."

FEMININE ATTIRE COST $100

DUBUQUE, Ia. (UP)—Alfred Boge, 28, dressed himself in feminine attire, including corset and dainty under clothes, and came here from his home in New Vienna for a lark. He went back home the next day, minus his costume and $100. All went well throughout the evening until Boge under took to show two women his negligee. The witnesses called police.

SUBSTITUTE FOR 25 YEARS

EMMETTSBURG, Ia. (UP)—Twenty-five years ago, Robert Wilson came here to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Tom Adamson. He remained for a short while in his brother-in-law's job of school janitor, while the school board searched for a new man for the position. Wilson is still here. NEW U. C. COACH

William A. (Navy Bill) Ingram, who has resigned as football coach at Annapolis to accept appointment to the same position at the University of California, replacing Nibs Price.

Stanford To Meet Southern Cal. In Two Cage Games

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 16—Still smarting from defeats handed them by California and U. C. L. A., respectively, last week end, basketball teams of Southern California and Stanford will meet in a two game series here Friday and Saturday.

The Trojans, Conference champions last year, found Nibs Price's Golden Bears a little too tough and bowed, 24-22, in a torrid game. The Indians drew a tough assignment in the veteran Bruin quintet and were beaten twice, 32-23 and 28-26. As a result, Bruins and Bears are riding on top of the heap in the Southern Division of the Pacific Conference and the Trojans and Indians are bringing up the rear.

A double victory for Stanford or Southern California this week end will return either to the ranks of the contenders, depending, of course, on what happens when California and U. C. L. A. collide. Fans are inclined to consider the Trojans-Indian series a toss-up with whatever edge exists going to the south-erners.

Coach John Bunn ran into a peculiar situation when his Cardinals were beaten twice by U. C. L. A. In each of the two encounters, the redskins were unable to find the hoop for a single point in the initial ten minutes of play. In the first contest, the Bruins ran up 16 and in the second, 10, during this period. After spotting their rivals to 16 and 10 point leads, the Stanford basket-

Three Teams Lead In Sequoia League

By GENE HARTNEY

Three of the twelve teams starting in the Cherokee Basketball League are undefeated. The boys' council, Block "S" society, and Band and Orchestra.

Results of last Friday's second round play: Italian club 19, Travel-Aero 5; Iota Zeta 51, Junior Mechanics 16; Japanese club 24, Boxing team 8.

Games to be played this week in the Cherokee League are: Band and Orchestra vs. Block "S" society; Iota Zeta vs. Japanese club; Boys' council vs. Italian club; Press club vs. Yell Leaders; Debate society vs. Travel-Aero; Junior Mechanics vs. Boxing team.

The contest between the two undefeated quintets, the Band and Orchestra, led by Harold Knivton, and the Block "S" society, led by Lewis Stacy and Max Green, should be the closest fought contest of the third round.

Bruce Graham was elected last night by his team mates to lead the Sequoia Union high school 130-pound basketball team in the coming Peninsula Athletic League season, while Leo LeRoy, veteran of the Cherokee varsity was named captain.

Graham was captain of the Cherokee 110's last year and also played lightweight basketball the previous year. LeRoy played on the varsity last year and in his freshman year was a member of the lightweights.

However, in the Burlingame high game this Friday, Alber and DeLacy will captain the varsity in respective halves of the game. The Panthers contest will be the last in which Alber, stellar Cherokee center, and DeLacy, leading guard candidate, will play for Sequoia and for this the two will alternate as captains, according to Coach Frank Griffin.

Sequoia Teams To Meet B'game Here Tonight

Local Quintets Confident Of Victory In Clash With Panthers

Opening the Peninsula Athletic League the Sequoia Union high school varsity quintets will clash with the Burlingame high teams in the Sequoia gymnasium this evening.

Coach Frank Griffin is expectant of victory from his two teams, due to the successful practice campaign the Cherokees went through, losing only two contests and 130's losing three.

The Cherokees lost their only double-header game to Calileo last Friday, but trimmed Monterey both tilts last Saturday. In the practice game Tuesday the varsity defeated Saint James high of San Francisco, while the 130's were defeated.

The 130's will have Peri and Harris at forward, Captain Graham at center, and a strong pair of guards in Wohlken and West.

The varsity line-up will include Leroy and Langbehn, forwards, Alber, center, and Delacy and Bugge, guards.

Golf Added To Girls' Sports

That golf will be added to the list of girls' sports in place of baseball at Sequoia Union high school was the decision of the Girls' board of athletic control January 6. Because of the rising popularity of this sport this decision was made.

Golf will be run off the same as any other inter-club sport. The girls will practice on the football gridiron and on the handball courts with wool-practice balls under the direction of Miss Mildred Brown, head of the girls' physical education department. The matches will be played off at some nearby course.

BOSTON (UP)—Mrs. Mary Chrisinas of West Merford is the mother of twins, born just after the recent Yuletide season.

YOUNG HERO HAPPY

Photographed for the first time since the streetcar crash in Twin Peaks tunnel that resulted in the loss of one leg, Tommy Watson, 13-year old Boy Scout, smiled broadly. Within a day or two he is to leave the hospital in San Francisco where he has lain for many weeks. Tommy, a brother of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., won fame for his bravery, for, as he lay crushed in the wreckage in the tunnel, he insisted that rescuers pass him up and look after others that were injured. Among other things that cheered Tommy today was a watch sent him by President Herbert Hoover.

Athens Athletics Win Over Sequoia

By GENE HARTNEY

Facing the powerful Athens Athletic club water polo team of Berkeley, the Sequoia Union high school varsity water polo team was defeated 11 to 5. The score, however, does not indicate the closeness of play and the stellar battle waged by Coach Jim Eva's Cherokee paddlers in the Athens pool Monday evening.

Although the Athens club has a veteran outfit composed of former college preformers, the Indians put up a good fight, as indicated by the score of 5 to 4 in favor of the Winged Acorns at half time.

Adams, centerback; Cartwright, guard; Worrell, forward; and acting captain Frank Goldthwaite played outstanding games for the Cherokees. According to Coach Eva, the entire team performed well and played brilliantly.

Among the outstanding satellites for the transbay outfit were: Ogden Drake, sprint, who played on the Stanford varsity for two years and one year with the Athens club; and Triola, former Alameda high swimmer, who has been on the Athens team for three years.

Coach Eva has a number of practice tilts remaining in which to iron out the flaws in the Indian work before the opening of the Peninsula Athletic League in February.

SPEAKING OF SPORT

BY FRANK GETTY

By HENRY McLEMORE United Press Staff Correspondent Wallace Wade's Move Big Break for Duke

Wallace Wade the soft-spoken driver who made the football world Alabamaconscious, goes to Duke as head coach on Sept. 1 and you may safely wager a dollar or two that Duke football will start going places in a great hurry when Mr. Wade arrives.

No coach in the country, with the exception of the one and only Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, has compiled a more impressive record than Wade. Yet, despite his great success, Wade is one of the lesser known of the football coaching business.

Wade himself is partly to blame for his comparative obscurity for he enjoys going his own quiet way, once on the football field, however he sheds this natural shyness and becomes a man that is satisfied with nothing but the best and is willing to do a little driving to get it.

Alabama Football Was in Doldrums

When Wade arrived at Alabama from Vanderbilt where he had served as assistant to the veteran Dan McGuire, he found football in the doldrums. The Crimson Tide, as the Alabama team is known, was being kicked about by every team in the Southern Conference.

Wade soon put a stop to this. His 1924 eleven won the Southern Conference championship. So did his '25 and '26 outfits.

The 1925 machine, one of the greatest teams the South has ever seen, was the first Southern team to be invited to the Rose Bowl. Alabama accepted and defeated the strong University of Washington team 20 to 19.

'Bama was again invited to the Bowl in '26 and managed to tie a powerful Stanford combination. This year Alabama made its third trip to Pasadena and returned with a 24 to 0 win over Washington State, Pacific Coast champions.

Wade developed many great players at the Tuscaloosa school, including Johnny Mack Brown, now of Hollywood; Pooley Hubert, Wu Winslett; Freddie Pichard; Will Buckler, and Fred Sington, who was a unanimous All-American choice this last season.

MALDEN TWINS RISE

AS GIRL TENNIS STARS MALDEN, Mass. Jan. 16 (UP)—Hilda and Helen Boehm of this city, dark haired, dimpled 17-year-old twins, are among the most promising young women tennis players in the United States.

Raised within a stone's throw of America's playground here Hilda and Helen began using their rough, dirt tennis court long before they completed grammar school.

They took to tennis rackets as small girls take to jumping ropes, and soon were the superiors of all other girls and most of the boys in the neighborhood.

They have been in tournament competition two years. In the national girls' indoor tournament recently at Chestnut Hill, Hilda was runner-up to Katherine Winthrop of Boston for the singles championship while the twins won the doubles championship, beating Helen Fulton of Chicago and Mary Cutter of Winchester.

During this tournament Mrs. George W. Wightman one-time national women's singles champion and still one of the country's best doubles players, said that "no woman in America can play better tennis than Hilda Boehm, but of course she lacks speed to hold her own with many of the older and more experienced players."

DEVIL DOG BASEBALL

TEAM TOURS JAPAN

SHANGHAI, Jan. 16 (UP)—A "good will baseball tour of Japan," was recently conducted by the Fourth Marines baseball team, made up of U. S. Devil Dogs, stationed in Shanghai.

Playing against various club, college and university teams, the Ma-lines made a 714 percentage by winning 10 out of 14 contests. They covered the mainland from Kobe to Yokohama and were showered with hospitality.

This is believed to have been the first such trip of any athletic team from the armed forces of the United States covering so much territory and making such a good record.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN LUCKY

FOR FOOTBALL PLAYER

BERKELEY, Cal. Jan. 16 (UP)—There will be competition for No. 13 on the University of California football squad next season as a result of Ted Beckett's great record. Beckett inherited the proverbially unlucky number at the close of 1929's football season and wore it two years. During the two long campaigns he played errorless football and suffered no serious injury. He ended his collegiate football career with being selected on five of the major All-American teams.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. Jan. 16 (UP)—A comparatively new tradition at Harvard is that the manager of the varsity hockey squad must wear a derby hat at all games. Joe Stubbs, coach of the Crimson ice team, has been jokingly charged with instituting the tradition. Stubbs is a hatter by trade.

The total value of the estate is in excess of $10,000.

The city council met in regular session Tuesday evening, all members answering roll call.

The regular order of business was suspended and the clerk was ordered to open the bids for street improvement in Stanford Park. Blake wanted to know if the estimate of the engineer was filed for record. When told it was, the clerk proceeded to open the estimates, which were as follows:

Irving L. Ryder, $94,803.17; W. O. Tyson, $107,144.19; W. A. Dantanville, $99,435.01; Jack Casson, $106,966.40; Clyde W. The council then adjourned to Thursday evening at which time the contract for the contemplated work in Stanford Park will be awarded.

The council met last evening and awarded the contract to Clyde W. Wood, who was the lowest bidder, his bid being $90,026.81. Mr. Wood comes from Stockton, where he has a large contracting business. Work will be started on about February 10th.

The streets to be improved are, College, Patridge, Cambridge, Harvard and Stanford avenues, Cornell Road, University Drive, Yale Road, Princeton Road and Arbor Road.

Similar proceedings inaugurated by the previous city administration covering improvements on four streets were halted by court injunction last May. The present bid covers 19,010 lineal feet of paving on 11 streets, being less than $5 a lineal foot.

City Engineer Bert J. Mehl has received numerous compliments from the property owners and the bidding contractors for the excellence of his plans.

The stork on January 11 left a pound baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardy of Menlo Park. The proud father is the son of Dr. J. Ross Hardy of this city. AN APPEAL FOR HUMANITY

Thousands of people, men, women and children are in danger of starvation as a result of the drought and other economic conditions in the Middle West and Southern States.

President Hoover issued a proclamation this week urging the generous contribution to the $10,000,000 fund which the Red Cross is endeavoring to raise for the relief of the suffering in the stricken area.

Redwood City, through its Red Cross Chapter, has been asked to contribute $1100 to this cause. The chapter has already voted $100 of this amount and the city an additional $100. The remaining $900 must be raised through popular subscription.

Will you do your part in this great humanitarian cause? The money must be raised at once. Send your contribution to any of the following places:

NEW CHINESE SHORTHAND
CAPABLE OF GREAT SPEED

PEIPING, Jan. 16 (UP)—Much interest is being shown here in a new system of Chinese shorthand, devised by Liu Hsueh-chun, which is capable of recording 180 words per minute.

As each character or "letter," in Chinese is a complete word, Chinese ideography would in itself be a type of shorthand, were it not that the characters are extremely elaborate, the writing of some of them requiring as many as 30 separate strokes of the pencil.

Liu's system, which he calls "Liography," simplifies these Chinese characters on a basis of phonetics, and as there are very few separate sounds in the language, he claims that his system is very easy to learn.

Anyone who knows Chinese should be able to learn "Liography" by studying an hour a day for three months, the inventor asserts, and he himself has given frequent demonstrations here to prove that he can write 180 words per minute.

Liu has written a book explaining his system of stenography which soon is to be published.

Legion To Aid
Hospitalization

Redwood City post No. 105, American Legion, will assist ex-service men in securing hospitalization forms which will entitle them to care in a government hospital. A big get-together party is being planned by the post for Monday evening, February 2, to which all ex-service men are invited. At this meeting the post commander, C. C. Filsinger, will have government hospitalization blanks. State Adjutant Fisk is expected to be present at this meeting, or will send a representative who will sign up the blanks for the ex-service men.

It will be necessary for all men to have their discharge papers with them in order to secure one of the blanks. The blanks when properly filled out and signed will entitle the holder to admission to a government hospital in case of accident or sickness, and will avoid the delay which generally accompanies admission to such hospitals.

The post is endeavoring to secure its full quota of membership, 135, by the time of this meeting, and all ex-service men who served in the world war are being sought as members.

GLAD TO BE OUT BUT—

His first thought on being rescued after having spent 33 hours behind a cave-in in the Hetch Hetchy tunnel at Camp Mitchell, Cal., was how soon he would be permitted to return to work in that same tunnel. Savitz, shown above as he stepped from the "skip" that brought him to the surface after rescue early Sunday morning, had twice previously been trapped underground, once for 11 days in Alaska, and again for a week in Utah.

HOLLYWOOD'S
FILM SHOP

By DUANE HENNESSY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16 (UP)—Hollywood, because it is the film capital is the home of unusual industries.

Every month, for example, an enterprising firm supplies studio departments with a directory of companies advertising snow, blood, dragons, wild animals, domestic animals, voice teaching, language professors, raw silver wanted and dozens of other things.

There is John, the bear, who appeared in John Gilbert's "Redemption." John carries a regular ad in the directory.

Telephone Van Nuys 621-W and the gentleman who answers will supply you on ten minutes' notice with a "special camera plane, equipped with steel-tubing mounts for all makes of cameras, including geared and free head."

A man who advertises "Just Call Me Jack," explains that he will furnish immediately any kind of freak needed—fat woman, bearded lady, human skeleton tattooed man, wild man, or name it yourself.

Five companies manufacture synthetic snow and blood.

Two firms bid for the privilege of buying used developing fluid. The fluid abounds in nitrate of silver, an active agent in photography. By a special process shiny bars of block silver are extracted.

Under the "animals" heading is a name and phone number without further comment. Studio attaches know that he makes a specialty of supplying flies, moths and fleas.

During Past Year

Surgeon General's Report
States Conditions Generally
Good

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (UP)—Health conditions in the United States during the past fiscal year are discussed in a report recently made public by the United States Public Health Service.

The report, containing remarks of Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings, states that conditions were generally good, with the exception of influenza and pneumonia, as well as the comparatively low death rate resulting from these diseases.

Yellow fever did not appear during the year.

In 1928 there was an increase in the incidence of malaria. For 1929 reports from 45 states showed a slight decrease in malaria deaths, but in some Southern states there was an increase in deaths over 1928. Case and death rates for diphtheria have been decreasing for many years, and in the calendar year 1929 they reached new low records.

The prevalence of pellagra has been increasing for several years. From a death rate of 2.5 per 100,000 population in 1924, it has risen to 5.5 per 100,000 in 1929.

Infantile paralysis showed an increase at the end of June, 1930. Smallpox also became more prevalent. Forty-five states reported 41,458 cases in 1929.

Low records were reported during 1929 for tuberculosis and typhoid fever.

Emergency Building Program
Presented to Legislature
By Gov. Rolph

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16 (UP)—A $5,000,000 emergency building program, designed to provide immediate work for unemployment in California, was presented to the California state legislature today by Governor James Rolph Jr.

The program was contained in twenty-nine bills introduced by Assemblyman Robert L. Patterson of Taft, one of the four administration floor leaders in the lower house.

"This is a definite move by the governor to redeem on of his campaign pledges," said Patterson. "That was to provide funds at once for state buildings, in order to put as many men to work as possible."

Approval of the bills in time to permit the work to begin early in March, is assured, according to senate and assembly floor leaders.

Attorney Russell Scott of Monterey county, where the Peters and Angle deaths occurred, until chemists analyze the liquor involved.

NEW NEBULAE
FORMS IN SKY

DETROIT, Jan. 16 (UP)—The light and heat given off by the sun and the stars is built up into nebulae, or masses of star-clouds in outer space, Prof. Robert A. Millikan, winner of the Nobel prize for Physics, believes.

In a recent interview here Dr. Millikan expressed his belief that "the universe is not running down and that light and heat given off by the stars is not lost but begins again to build up nebulae in the remoteness of space."

Discussing the uses of astronomy Dr. Millikan said: "Astronomy might be considered the least useful of the sciences. Yet it is responsible for everything which differentiates our civilization from ancient civilizations."

"Galileo's interests in astronomy led him to discover the relations of force and matter that made possible the exact development of celestial mechanics. Every bit of that foundation had to be worked out to apply to terrestrial problems in every machine we have. Take out the pillars of Galileo and Newton and our civilization collapses."

Veteran Pilot
Makes Record

By ROBERT N. BLUM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16 (UP)—A world record for airplane passenger carrying might well be claimed by Monty Sharp, former army and forest patrol airman, and now senior pilot of Air Ferries, Ltd., which operates amphibian planes between San Francisco and Oakland, across San Francisco Bay.

Sharp recently made his 2100th round trip on the line, with never a single mishap on his record.

The pilot has carried more than 16,000 "flying commuters" across the bay since Air Ferries started operations more than a year ago.

Despite the fact that this service is the shortest airplane route in the world, being just over six miles long, Sharp has traveled more than 38,000 miles.

Sharp was the first pilot employed by Air Ferries, the corporation which showed the world that operation of a short line air service at 15 or 20 minute intervals was practicable. The veteran airman himself carried nearly a third of the 60,000 passengers the company has handled since starting operations.

Sharp's job is different from any other in commercial aviation. The average transport pilot flies hundreds of miles without making a landing, but Sharp has to make a round trip with two take-offs and landings on both land and water in less than 14 minutes.

"We get used to it, however," he said, "and we think our 'duck' ships are the safest there are."

Sharp grins when he thinks of comparing his present position with his former "racket" when he was a forest patrol pilot in the Pacific Northwest.

On his old job Sharp used to hunt forest fires from the air all over Washington and part of Montana, working out of Spokane in mountain timber territory, where

Rewards Totalling 200,000
Francs Paid by 1930
Tourists

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Jan. 16 (UP)—One million francs was the sum paid out in rewards in 1930 for recovery of nearly 200,000 articles lost in Paris, many of them the property of American tourists.

The authorities say that Americans, on vacation, lose their belongings with astonishing facility and that they pay the biggest rewards.

A packet of diamonds worth millions of francs, thousands of umbrellas, the manuscript of a novel on Paris written in English, lawyers' brief cases, wagon-loads of handbags, diplomatic documents—these were a few of the widely assorted objects lost and found.

The exact total of articles found was 150,000, but there was other property of negligible value which was not docketed. To store the huge mass of stuff, the police had to extend their premises at the Surete-Generale.

The police say that people are far more absent-minded now than 20 years ago. In 1910, for instance, the total number of objects found was 85,000.

This absent-mindedness is not peculiar in Paris, say the authorities, for the same state of affairs exists in all the big capitals of the world.

The BEST Gray Hair
Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

THREE GALLONS COST
SAN MATEO MAN $250

Joseph Savitski, San Mateo, played in hard luck this week. He paid $250 for three gallons of liquor and then didn't get the liquor. The police took that. Savitski was arrested by San Mateo police on a charge of violating the Wright act, and three gallons of liquor were seized. When he appeared in court, Judge Louis J. Kinnell fined him the $250 for having had the liquor.

Custom's Man Claims Detroit Is Drying Up

Collector Declares Less Liquor
Smuggling Than Ever Before

DETROIT, Jan. 16 (UP)—The Canadian border is closed to liquor smuggling, Col. Heinrich A. Pickert, collector of customs claimed in an interview published by the Detroit Free Press.

"The border is really closed to liquor," Col. Pickert is quoted as saying. "Our watchfulness is not relaxed, but the fact is that the rum runners are not trying."

Col. Pickert claimed to have observed a distinct trend against drinking among the "ultimate consumers" who make the business of the bootlegger and rum runner profitable.

"I do not claim that a prohibition Utopia has been reached," Col. Pickert is quoted. "But I challenge any man or woman who is in any position to speak with authority, to show that drinking has not declined tremendously in the past year."

The Free Press carried the interview as part of a survey of liquor conditions, the results of which led the newspaper to state: "Never since the day that Michigan went dry has the supply of genuine liquor and beer available in the Detroit area been so limited as now."

The Free Press attributed the change to the following factors:

The Canadian ban on liquor exports.

The successful work of the customs patrol.

And the financial depression.

ANNUAL ACCOUNT OF PHELPS ESTATE MADE

The annual account of the trustees of the Josephine A. Phelps estate was allowed and settled by Judge Buck in the Superior court yesterday. Attorney Sharpstein, who has handled the estate since the death of Mrs. Phelps, over fifteen years ago, asked for fees in the sum of $10,000 and a like sum for Will Chipman, executor of the In reply to the court as to how much he had already received said each had received $50,000. An attorney representing Mrs. Eugene Crabtree objected to the fees on the ground that they were excessive and that his client who was bequeathed the sum of $20,000 under the terms of the will had not gotten a dollar from the estate. He thought that his client should be given a portion of the inheritance. Judge Buck took occasion to reiterate that if it were not for quarreling of the heirs and objecting to the work of the executor, the estate would have been settled years ago. The court took into consideration the amount of the fees to be awarded.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER IN SUPERIOR COURT

Attorney Isadore Dockweiler of Los Angeles, and one of the prominent lawyers of the state, was in court yesterday battling for fees in a large estate, many of the heirs of which live in Los Angeles. The fees involved amount to $37,000. Dockweiler is the national democratic committeeman for California. J. E. McCurdy and Attorney Coleberd, as expert witnesses, declared that Dockweiler was entitled to the fees asked.

Men Are Hungry!

Here in our own city and throughout the land there are people who have no food to eat. When we think of the great plenty — even an over production of everything, we know there is something wrong with the system that fails to keep everybody in the country with food to eat. It is not enough to give charity — what should be done is to right the system.

The Women and Children are Hungry

tem. not create poverty on the one hand and great riches for the few. Reading and talking will not correct the system. We must act and there is no better way than to join with me in the great co-operative movement that I am proposing that the people own for themselves a chain of food stores — a chain free from the control of Wall Street.
